The commencement exercises at the convent of the Holy Names last evening was the literary and musical success anticipated. A very large number of ladies and gentlemen were in attendance and the graduates were recipients of many bouquets of lovely flowers. Several former students at the convent assisted in the exercises, and the efforts of the young ladies spoke volumes for the careful and efficient training received by them at the Sisters' school.

The $2000 damage suit of W. A. Dees vs. the City of Astoria was settled yesterday by City Attorney Smith. Dees, for his son, sued for $2000 damages and 175 doctor bills for injuries suffered by the boy, who fell through a Commercial street sidewalk while that thoroughfare was being improved. Mr. Smith brought about a compromise. Under the terms of which Mr. Dees receives $500. Of this amount the city pays one-half and Contractor J. K. Wirt, who made the Commercial street improvement, the other half.

The sale of seats for Wiedemann's big show opens at Griffin & Reed's tomorrow morning. The reputation of the company from last season should insure a record-breaking week. The bills for the week are all new. The offering for Friday evening is a revival of the great French melodrama, "The Sea of Ice," with seven sets of scenery from Poirier, costumes from Eaves Company of New York, and electrical effects from Colt & Co. The opening bill is the four-act comedy drama, "Dixie Land," a story of the South during the Rebellion, written by Jas. M. Martin.

The steamship Elder arrived last night from San Francisco, bringing a large number of passengers and a full load of freight. Among the passengers were 40 or 50 Mystic Shriners, who were returning from the annual gathering at San Francisco. Most of the Shriners were attired in attractive red suits, which were very much in evidence during the two-hour stay of the steamer. Women as well as men wore red, and even the children were likewise attired. Some of the costumes were remarkably gorgeous and gave one an idea of the magnificence of the pageant that recently marched through the streets of Trieste.

Here are a few questions for the leisure moments. Can you answer all of them? You can see any day a white horse, but did you ever see a white cat? How many different kinds of trees grow in your neighborhood, and what are they good for? Why does a horse cut backward and a cow forward? Why does a hop vine wind one way and a bean vine another? Where should a chimney be the widest, at top or bottom, and why? Can you tell why a horse, when tethered with a rope, always unravels it, while a cow always twists it into a kinky knot? What word will bear the greatest weight before breaking?

By a recent decision of the supreme court, Clatsop County must return all divorce fees collected by the district attorney. Under an old law, the district attorney received $10 for every divorce case tried. When the district attorneys were placed on salaries, the feature requiring payment of the $10 was not annulled, with the result that attorneys collected the money and turned it into the county treasury. The supreme court had ruled that the fee must be paid in Multnomah County and an effort was made to secure a similar ruling for Clatsop. This effort resulted in failure, as the Multnomah law was a special one.

In the circuit court yesterday suit was filed by C. B. Prescott against P. M. Warren and the Treseott Packing Company asking for the appointment of John Adams as receiver, on account of the books of the corporation, dissolution of partnership between Warren and Treseott, and judgment for a share of the profits of the business since the year 1893, with costs of suit. The plaintiff alleges that the concern was virtually a partnership in which he performed the business management, while Warren advanced the money and kept the accounts, and that the business was successfully operated until last October, when he was summarily ousted and a settlement and even an examination of the books was denied him. The undivided profits of the firm are claimed to exceed $100,000.

The case of Matt Jarvi, the West Astoria lad who shot and killed his father, Gabriel Jarvi, a few months ago, will not come up at the present term of the circuit court. Nearly all of the witnesses in the case have gone to Alaska to remain for the fishing season, and District Attorney Allen will be unable to induce Jarvi until the return of the witnesses. Jarvi is charged with manslaughter. At the preliminary hearing, where he was examined on a murder charge, many witnesses testified to the good character of the son and the bad character of the father, and Justice Goodman held Jarvi to await trial in the sum of $2000. The bail was furnished and the young man is enjoying his liberty.

Marcus Susman, the well-known speculator, is in receipt of a very warm letter of thanks from Governor-elect Chamberlain. During Mr. Chamberlain's recent visit to the city he had the honor of meeting Mr. Susman, and the latter promised to support him for the governorship. As Mr. Chamberlain's letter says, the result in this county shows that Mr. Susman kept his promise. A day or two before election (so the story goes) a fish market man painted in big letters on the cover of his delivery wagon the following inscription: "Vote for C. W. Fulton and W. J. Furnish." Now, it happened that Mr. Susman had thrown his support to Mr. Chamberlain. Dr. Henderson and John Hahn, so, to head off the scheme of the fish man, he bought the wagon outright. The original sign was obliterated and in its place appeared the following: "Vote for John Hahn, Chamberlain and Henderson." Mr. Susman spent most of his time in the wagon, from which he urged all men to vote for the Democrats. It is understood that he spent between $5 and $10,000 during the campaign, though he modestly declines to say exactly how much the election cost him. "Mr. Chamberlain is the captain of the ship," says Mr. Susman, "and if I kill anybody he will pardon me out in two months. Leave it to me!"

MISS SATTER'S BIG GAIN.
Is a Close Second Now in Goddess of Liberty Contest.

Miss Mollie Satter, one of the candidates for Goddess of Liberty, made a big gain yesterday, and now holds second place in the list. This young lady will, it is understood, be the choice of the clerks of the city, and is looked upon as one of the most formidable candidates. Miss Gunderson still maintains her lead, however, and has many friends who will lend her their hearty support. Two new candidates appeared in the race yesterday—Miss Cordelia Thiel and Miss Nellie Uttinger. The vote to date is as follows:

| | Won. | Lost. | P. C. |
|------------------------|------|-------|-------|
| Miss Mollie Satter | 15 | 5 | 50 |
| Miss Gertrude Stockton | 10 | 10 | 50 |
| Miss Maude Stone | 10 | 10 | 50 |
| Miss Ethel Palmer | 10 | 10 | 50 |
| Miss Lottie Reed | 10 | 10 | 50 |
| Miss Cordelia Thiel | 10 | 10 | 50 |
| Miss Anita Trenchard | 10 | 10 | 50 |
| Miss Nellie Uttinger | 10 | 10 | 50 |
| Miss Lila Drain | 10 | 10 | 50 |
| Miss Eva Goodman | 10 | 10 | 50 |

The committee last night decided to continue the contest until next Wednesday, thus affording the friends of the several candidates more time in which to do their campaigning. The final count, which is awaited with much interest, will be made at 5 o'clock on the afternoon of June 25.

MR. RATTLES TAKES A SAIL.

With no other craft but a piece of wood, an enormous rattle snake was found sailing the river, near Tongue Point. His long body thrice encircling his float, he with his head aloft seeks to land on the Astoria shore. It is, of course, a mystery as to how he became so placed. It may have been through the desire of seeking new quarters in the new reservation which opened yesterday and that his boat was not of high enough speed to carry him there in time; or it may have been the work of some one, throwing him out upon the waves to perish. Perhaps believing in "casting your bread upon the waters." The last seen of him he had changed his course and sailed gently toward the other side. Bon voyage, Mr. Rattle.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN.

Contractors and builders and the public generally are requested to take notice that the following planing mills, located in Portland, have been declared unfair by the Building Trades Council and Federated Trades Council of this city:

The Northwest Door Company.
Nicolai Brothers Company.
Hand Manufacturing Company.
North Pacific Planing Mill Co.
George Almslie & Co.
J. A. Martin & Co.

The Carpenters' Union of Astoria has taken the matter in hand and decided to use none of the products of the above-named mills. It was also decided in the union that after the first of July wages shall be $3 per day, to be paid every Saturday night without fail.

By order of the Union,
ADOLF JOHNSON,
T. SOUDEN, Secretary.

CONVICTS HEARD FROM.

J. V. Buris received a telephone message yesterday from Merrill Tracy, asking him to have a supply of his famous La Imperial cigars ready for them when they arrive in Astoria.
